

THIRD ANNUAL CONFERENCE

LAND STEWARDSHIP AND WATER RESOURCES

Tuesday, November 14, 2006

8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Uvalde High School Auditorium

One Coyote Trail, Uvalde, Texas

THE ECONOMIC INCENTIVE: Value of Healthy Watersheds

Hear from experts and leading thinkers on these topics:

- Income from land stewardship
- Reducing the cost of drought
- Government programs that work
- Responsible well ownership
- Conservation easements

CO-SPONSORS:

Texas Wildlife Association
Edwards Aquifer Authority
Texas Cooperative Extension

with support from the Rio Grande - Nueces Resource Conservation and Development Council and regional soil, water and groundwater conservation districts

SPEAKERS:

Blair Fitzsimons, American Farmland Trust and San Pedro Ranch
John S. C. Herron, Director of Conservation Programs, The Nature Conservancy
John R. Hoyt, Program Manager - Resource Protection, Edwards Aquifer Authority
A. Ryland Howard, Senior Vice President, Frost National Bank
Chuck Kowaleski, Farm Bill Coordinator, TPWD/NRCS Liaison
David K. Langford, Vice President Emeritus, Texas Wildlife Association
Mike McMurry, Outreach Specialist, Texas Department of Agriculture
Michael B. Mecke, Texas Water Resources Institute, Texas Cooperative Extension
Steve Nelle, Range Specialist, USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service
Richard Sechrist, President, Holistic Resource Management of Texas
Susan Spegar, Special Project Manager, City of San Antonio
Matt Wagner, Wildlife Diversity Program Director, Texas Parks and Wildlife

Free admission • Valuable information • Make plans today

For more information, call 830/278-6810 or e-mail info@nueces-ra.org hosted by the Nueces River Authority with funding from Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board through an EPA CWA 319(h) grant